Endymion MailMan

Hits: 4,461

Description: Endymion MailMan is a web-based application that allows users to send and receive Internet email from any Internet-connected web browser. Endymion MailMan uses any existing POP3 mailbox and SMTP server, so it integrates with your existing infrastructure effortlessly. It supports a frames-based interface, message attachments, HTML formatted email (when properly MIME encoded), and is completely customizable by modification of simple HTML templates.

I liked the trial version and therefore I tried to buy this product. But the site is not functional. I tried to contact the owners on multiple occasions via email and phone. They never responded. Their site has had uncorrected errors for over a year. This product has been abandoned. Don't waste your time trying to do business with these guys.
