I looked at this one a long time, Mar 20th, 2003

I am in the process of buying a great webscript to start my dating site operation. I have already purchased a few, but this one really got my attention. I have to admit the price tag scares me a little, but it is the first one that I have seen that incorporates an affiliate program which is paramount in creating a great dating site.

I plan on writing a detailed review on all the scripts and options out there as I try them out. I am going to start 3 different sites in the next 3 months using different scripts and see which one takes off and which one doesn't. This one is definately on my top 3 list so far due to features etc.

The worst experience with a 'company'and a script I have ever had. Unless the company has changed radically and the script totally rewritten then don't waste your money and time. Any good reviews for this I suspect must be from themselves. I would give it a minus rating if it were possible.
