Pretty Ordinary - But watch out for the spam., Apr 9th, 2005

The script itself is pretty average - has some useful features, but I have an issue with float over buttons that change the entire screen layout when you hover over them.

More importantly I tried the demo, and now receive more junk mail from upoint every time someone else tries the demo. I have emailed them several times to remove my address from the database - alas no avail. Today I received 6 junk emails when someone else was testing the application.

The bottom line here is don't provide your email address for the demo unless you want more spam each time someone else tries the demo.
