After uploading and unzipping the files I downloaded it took all of 2 seconds to setup. After filling out a very simple form the basic configuration was all done for me. The boards are very fast and function as promised. There is even a way to give each and every user of the boards a rating from 1 - 10 giving them a different title for almost each level. What I would love to see is the addition of a couple more security features. For example, I really like the boards but there is no way for me to make it so that only members can post to them. There is also not a way to secure a specific topic for the administrators of the site. Other than that I think the boards are very good, fast and flexible.
