Well designed and well written, Feb 18th, 2003

This is one of the best password-protection schemes I've seen in years. Very well written, well-thought and planned, and easy to use. The PayPal integration is seamless and simple. I highly recommend this solution.

Perl encrypted, hard to customize, Dec 24th, 2003

Reviewed By: lisaweb

The Perl in this script is completely encrypted, making it impossible to customize the program ourselves, to meet our own unique requirements. (We only learned this after purchase.) Programmer was willing to customize some functions, but not everything we needed. License protection makes it difficult (if impossible) to move to new server. Support was responsive, but knowledge to customize functions we needed seemed limited. But it's a great program if it already does everything you need.

Poor support and hidden charges!, Sep 23rd, 2003

I bought two licenses for this script, and did not install the right away because I was moving. No where on the site does it say there is a time limit for support but after 30 days they try to charge you for access to standard support documentation.

It seemed to work but then I got complaints of people not able to log in. I would not buy it again or recommend it to anyone.

solid script and great support, Jul 24th, 2003

I agree with ellison on his review. It is very well written and solid as a rock. The best feature of it is their support, my 3 support emails, all answer in under 20 minutes, really was amazing. I would have no hesitation recommending it to any one.

Terrible Program & Support, Dec 3rd, 2004

Reviewed By: prochford

Save yourself time and money and either have your own developed or buy another program.

Support for the first question you have is okay but don't ask this one man show too many questions, you'll get an attitude.

It is a nightmare to move servers because the files that make up Membership Client Pro are all encrypted. Forget you can hardly modify for your website look and functionality, when you move servers you have to re-activate your installation with the programmer.

Don't forget it's a one man show so you won't be sure when you'll get another key for the program to work on another host.

Anyway, I hope this helps others out there save time and money.

A prefoessional Web designer friend of mine gave me the link to MCP as he thought it would suite me perfect, and he wasn't wrong :) I sell stock and trading advice and MCP works great for me.

Just want to say a special thank you to Emily for her patience in answering all my questions and helping me getting up and selling.

I can whole heartedly recommend Membership Client Pro to you.
