Description: Solupress News is a comprehensive online news publishing system. Use a rich, web interface to place news and events online easily from anywhere, without the need for expensive web developers. Articles can have images, audio, video, and indeed any other type of file uploaded with them.

Customize with your own logo, custom HTML, background colors, text colors, link colors, and change fonts. Many ways to stand out!

The output is what you'd expect from a professional news website like the nytimes.com or the latimes.com and it now publishes RSS feeds.

The AutoActivation feature in Solupress automatically posts your articles online on the date you specify, so you can have your news web site maintain itself while you're on vacation. In addition, a WAP interface allows mobile device users with Internet access to view news, scores, and events on their devices.
