Allcount is The Best Value I've Found on the Net, Mar 4th, 2003

Reviewed By: XAT

I did an extensive search to find a programme to provide stats of visitors to our site, and most were quite expensive, some linking to the provider charging a monthly fee.

When I saw ALLCOUNT which claimed to provide full Stats, including the URLs of those linking to you and search engine requests for your site at a fraction of what others were charging, I thought there was not much to lose in giving it a try.

This programme is excellent and I can only suggest If you want STATS for your site that you get a copy of ALLCOUNT soon, before the makers realise how underpriced their product is and start charging more. This really is the best value I've found on the net.
