PetSite

Hits: 1,672

Description: A perl script that allows you to set up and maintain an extensive and well organized pet directory with a minimum of effort. Visitors can write and submit a 'This Week's Featured Pet' ad, submit a standard pet ad to one of many different categories, report dead ads, participate in polls, contribute articles to the weekly newsletter and much more. The admin page features a built-in newsletter/banner manager. A powerful search engine with indexing and advanced search capability are also built into the script. PetSite can be used alone or as the compliment to any existing site.

This script does not work at all the way it is sold. They do not reply to requests for help at all. I purchased it for $20 thinking it would be a good shortcut to a customer's request. It is not ready for public use. Extensive knowledge of formmail is required.

Buyer Beware!
