Description: FuzzyCode is a source-control and code-versioning system for Active Server Pages developers. FuzzyCode allows source code and other scripts to be added to a database. The source code and scripts can then be checked out by developers when they need to edit them. Easily allow developers working on the same solution to collaborate with each other and share source code using a robust environment. FuzzyCode virtually eliminates all codeconflicts between developers, keeping your mission-critical projects safe, secure, and reliable.
