Linklok URL

Hits: 11,312

Description: Protects files by securing links to them using MD5 hashing. This way nobody ever knows the true location of your files. Links can also have an expiry time from 1 minute to several years if required making it easy to control access. Linklok URL can also be used with a download form to email secure time limited links to a user. User only gets the links if they enter a valid email. Can also filter out free or other types of email addresses if necessary. Now has a manual entry form feature as well. eCommerce versions for Paypal, 2CO etc available.

This script works wonderfully; it's the only script I've seen that both protects the location of the file and allows the use of download managers and accelerators.

I use it on a large scale site that gets over 1 million page views per month, it causes no loss in performance or any other problems. I have nothing but good things to say about Linklok URL. I'm planing on buying a few more licenses to use on some other sites.

Excellent Script. Fantastic Support., Sep 19th, 2005

We needed an quick solution to obscure URLs to protect some video sources. Linklok looked like a good solution but we had some issues due to large files timing out and progressive video downloads. Fotrunately, Linklok support resolved these issues and even provided new customized versions to suit our needs. We highly recommend this excellent script and the support is fantastic.

I have to say that this script is worth every penny, and it works along with their other, just as good, creations. It's highly configurable, and the support from the site is first class. I would recommend this highly.
