Good SW, Outstanding Support, Aug 30th, 2005

Reviewed By: francefan

I looked around a lot before I went with Realty Manager. Realty Manager made my short list based on product capabilities and price; I think they are good money for value.

I then sent a list of questions to each of the short-list companies. Realty Manager came out top both in terms of the completeness of the responses and speed of response. So I went with them.

I've been very happy with my choice in terms of SW capabilities and ease-of-use. However, I've been extremely pleased with the quality of service.

I've had some unusual requirements which required going beyond the normal template manipulation to changing the underlying HTML code. The Realty Manager help line (and their Forum) answered all my questions and explained how to do everything I wanted, making useful suggestions as well. For those items which required HTML coding, when I explained that I didn't know HTML, they did all the modifications free of charge for me. Everything was with a smile and all the staff very helpful (special thanks to Ross!!).

If anyone has questions about my experiences with the SW, drop me a line through the contact details on my site (www.france-property-and-information.com).

Regards, Doug Stewart

This script is the absolute best!!, Sep 10th, 2005

I cannot believe the flexibility in this Realty Manager script. You have complete control on what data you want to display and how to display it. To top it off, the company has a great support forum for you to share ideas with other users or to get help with existing functions or ideas how to do some extra functions as well. You are not only getting a great product but great support as well. TOP NOTCH!!

Realty Manager is the best cgi database i have ever seen. I am a professor of networking and have a few clients i maintain websites for. i am not a programmer but need to have a working online database and they really came thru for me. the sales staff is fantastic, service is incredible and its fast. i recommend

Manager Does the Trick, Jan 19th, 2006

Realty and Auto Manager are now rolled into Listings Manager. I'm using to manage an animal adoption site. My clients love the interface. Easy to install & set up. Even more important than the product is the support from Interactivetools staff - best company I've ever dealt with - on or off the net. Response to issues is timely, and very creative when asked to meet unusual needs of the client. Have recommended product and company to numerous companies and developers.
