Description: The BosDirectory link indexing system is the perfect way to organization to present your visitors with links which are relavent to your website.

Allow your visitors to add links to the directory with either automatic or manual approval of their suggestion. Visitors may also rate the links as well as write reviews for others to read.

Create endless numbers of categories and sub-categories so that you may organize the links directory however YOU wish it to be laid out.

Imagine if you ran a website which dealt with crafts. Now, imagine your website using the BosDirectory link indexing system to allow your users to provide links to resources on the Internet. Your website just grew! What if your site was programming related... or automotive...

Bosdirectory will allow your visitors to review links, post their own links, and much more.

The system can be setup as a reciprocal links directory if desired. You may also charge for listings, to include additional options like bolding.

One to steer clear of, Nov 26th, 2004

This is one to steer clear of. Unlike most paid scripts, you are required to maintain a visible link to the developer's website. This would be fine, if there was a link to a Terms and Conditions or the EULA *before* you have purchased the script. It is also lacking basic directory features, such as email notification when listings and reviews are submitted. Bad experience here, both in getting it setup and trying to deploy it.

This was the first script that I purchased from Bosdev. Very easy to install and use. Excellent customer support with a very fast response time. I have recently bought numerous other scripts from them and highly recommend a visit to their site to see all their products.

Using BosDirectory for some years now.
Good interface, both on admin and on user side.
All the features you need and more. Stable and secure.

Very easy to use and manage, and if you do get stuck, don't worry, helps on the way.
