Description: Most major search engines take into consideration how many sites have links to your site in order to give it a rating. The more sites that have links to you, the higher your rank and position in the search engines. You can use our free link popularity checker, LinkTest V1.0 to do a semi-automatic check of your link popularity in the major engines. We have left some of the work up to you, so that means that you will have to use your browser's back button to do a new search using the other engines.
