dB Masters' PHP Formm@iler

Hits: 17,997

Description: A single script to handle as many forms as you want to throw at it with as many fields as needed, including file attachments. The only "hidden field" variable is a single configuration value to call the proper variables in a script-level array to get the right configuration info. This keeps all recipients, cc's, bcc's and other value's away from the prying eyes of spam bots and provides far fewer routes for hackers to take to compromise the script and no way for spambots to index recipients email addresses such as the case is with many form mail processors.

dB Masters' PHP Formmailer, Jun 26th, 2003

Excellent script. Very easy to set it up and have it running on your web site. Your email address is kept on the server as a PHP variable the entire time and is never sent to the client, so it is 100% guaranteed to keep spammers from harvesting your address.

I use this script on several web sites, including one very popular privacy web site, where I recommend this as the answer to email harvesting robots.

Need Form Mail? This is the one you want!, Dec 4th, 2004

DB Masters' Formm@iler is a full-featured secure php form processor - send attachments, html or plain text auto-confirmations and customize your results on both ends.

The Free Download includes easy-to-follow instructions and a few sample forms, and the active message forum on the scripts.dbmasters.net site provides almost instant access to any solution for any problem you may have.

After trying out a number of similar scripts, I now happily and easily include formm@iler in every website I build, including some high-end commercial projects.

Works with straight html coding as well as wysiwyg editors like Dreamweaver or NetObjects Fusion.

If I could, I would give this script a 10!
