

HotScripts
<http://www.hotscripts.com>  COM

Header and Footer Inclusion for Beginners

Hits: 3,911

Description: Let's pretend you have 10 pages in your site with the same design and you want to change a link in your menu. You would have to edit all 10 pages, right? Nope, there's a much quicker way allowing you to edit just one file and it's not as hard as it sounds. What we have to do is create a header file and a footer file. The header file contains all the HTML code for the top portion of your site. The footer contains the HTML for the bottom. Content goes between the header and footer. Let's get started...

Resource Specifications

Date Added:	Aug 27th, 2003
Last Updated:	Aug 27th, 2003

Average Visitor Rating:  3.00 (out of 5)

Number of Ratings: 8 Votes

Average Member Rating:  0.00 (out of 5)

Number of Reviews: 0 Reviews

Other Links by This Member

Header and Footer Inclusion for Beginners

