Alex's Append

Hits: 4,140

Description: Append is a perl script which appends all the form entries to a file for later processing. It also has the ability to mail people with the input to the form as well. The format of the file is almost HTML and most browsers should be able to read the log file as HTML. Also form entries which look like an email address are converted into hyperlinks and all entries which look like a URL are converted into html links.
