We are volunteer firefighters who have no knowledge of web development who wanted an easy way to present info on our latest saves. The latest version installed very easily. It took less than five minutes to get the others up and posting news.

I've used the product for a couple of years and find it serviceable, though limited. My complaint is that, having moved the site to a new host I had to reinstall the program and pay AGAIN for the patch to remove the promo link. On top of that the patch provided was the wrong one and I've received no response to two emails.
