UseBB is a very effective forum package for webmasters who don't require a bloated forum such as many other packages. It is straight-forwarded and easy to use, even for new forum users. However the package is still under development, it's already great!

A long time i've searched for a forum like this!

It's easy to use, modify, configure and the most important thing of all (:P) the skinning. Forum integration have never been this easy! Though the forum haven't even reached 1.0 it's really good and easy for members and moderators! It doesn't have this overload of features but it got the standard features and those you need!
