This is a sweet script, it's really simple to install and works great as a click tracker, but it isn't particularly useful for download tracking. It makes you convert all links to a `http://yourdomain.com/jump.php?url=http://www.any_domain.com/page.html` form, which means the user can not right-click-save. If you have a file like mp3 or pdf in the link, the user can't download it but is forced to view it in the browser. Could use some brushing up there.
