PHPFormail

Hits: 2,626

Description: PHPformail will let visitors of your site sent you emails from your webpage without having them to sign into their own email account. This script is similar to the famous Formail script written in CGI. I remember when I first tried to configure Formail when I was a freshman in college, it took me for ever to read the code and then ask the administrator to give me the appropriate CGI path. So anyway, now I wrote a simple script that do the same, and looks even better! Only need to edit 3 lines in config.inc file and upload it as is and you ready to get emails right in your mailbox from visitors of your own site.
