PersonalSearch

Hits: 5,683

Description: PersonalSearch allows you to create a search engine for you own site. You decide what keywords it should respond to and what URLs are included in the engine. It also offers 100% control of the search abilities. This requires from you a little work: for every document you must specify a location(URL),a title and some keywords (keywords are not required). This information is stored in a file, which the applet reads from. Now you have the option of adding comments in the file. The comments will be ignored when searched. This makes it possible to easily administer large sites. The search applet will only work in browsers supporting java 1.1 and higher (ie. Netscape 4.06+ and MSIE 4.0+).
