GIG List

Hits: 5,638

Description: Allows a user to add, edit and remove GIGs from their band or venu's website. Easy to use admin interface allows you to even change the settings without editing any code. Installer installs everything from the MySQL tables and required information to the settings and database variables.

Allows editable templates through the admin interface as well as multiple admins. GIG List now supports any website, including those that are just there to list GIGs for many different bands and venus!

I've got to admin... being a new user on the net with my band and all GIG List allowed me to add gigs and do everything easy without uploading a single html page after installation. This is da bomb of PHP Scripts.

It allows you to add, remove GIGS! Version 3.0 I hear is being released soong with some major fixes, plus it allows you to edit your gigs now, edit your settings through the admin area, and includes an installer script making it even easier for simple minded people. It is now even made to be used for a band's website and a venu's website!

If you want my opinion, this is the script you should get if you want easy of listing your upcoming gigs!

This is one of the worst scripts I've ever installed. The documentation is poor, installation does not include any sanity checks and functionality is extremely limited. Avoid it.
