A Good Solid Script, Dec 27th, 2004

I purchased this script a couple of weeks ago (approx 12.15.04), and so far I am very happy with it. I almost have the cosmetic modifications completed. (Waiting on a designer to finish a logo). I have owned 3 different search scripts now, and this one is the best. In terms of features I don't know of a similar script that has this many. That was actually one of my concerns before buying the script. I knew I didn't want to use some of the features, and I was afraid not using them would require some extensive modification to the templates & code, but surprisingly every feature I didn't want to use could be flipped off in the control panel. My past experience with these search scripts is that even minor cosmetic modification can be a difficult and tedious process. This one has been by far the easiest for me to modify to my liking. Pre-sales questions were answered promptly and requests for support after the sale were handled quickly.

I purchased this script and since it was installed I have had several problems and errors with the system. Not to mention the speed of the results that are returned and the response of the service department. If the product and support improve I will update this review.

Customer Service not good, Mar 20th, 2005

If your looking for a search engine script this isn't the one unless you want 10 categories like they have on their demo. It is slow and if you want to add links it has a spider that is useless. It indexes all the urls on the webpage, So you have to go thru countless urls one by one to delete. Also the add cats feature is useless if you have to add alot of cats and subcats. I hired 2 php programmers to add the cats thru the db and when we did the cats will not show up this way. I wrote to service asking about this never got a response. It also appears the reason it is slow if you have alot of cats/subcats is it queries the all the cats from the db when main page opens. For 400 dollars this script isn't worth it by a long shot.

So far, so good.. I'm liking this script quite a bit. It's easy to manipulate on the admin-end, and easy to use for people doing searches. It's a very robust script with lots of functionality. Customer service has been excellent. The support team has been very responsive for me. This looks, to me, like one of those scripts that gets better and better with every new version.
