PHP reciprocal links manager

Hits: 17,131

Description: LinkMan will completely automate your reciprocal links exchange. It will require webmasters to place a link to your website on their site before they can add their link to your links page. In the LinkMan admin panel you have a special tool, that will crawl all URLs where your reciprocal link should be - if the reciprocal link wasn't found it will automatically remove link to that site from your links page. LinkMan doesn't need a SQL database to operate, it works with simple text files.

Features include an admin panel, website thumbnails, Google PageRank check, featured links, blocking noindex and nofollow tags, blocking duplicate website submissions, powerful SPAM filter and many more!

Easy customization of the interface to blend in with the rest of the site. Easy operation for the user. Nice 'Admin' panel, altogether a good script, and the price is right! Although I gave a donation.

This has got to be the best free links manager around! I've been using this great script now for about 3months and already my pagerank has increased! Its so much quicker to use than any other links manager i've used, and best of all its free! Customisation is brilliant, quick and easy. u just simply add in your html for the header and footer! Definatly recoment this, and i will be updating all my websites link pages to this cool script! Hope ya'z all like it as much as I do!!!

It is very helpful! Can add, check links, but it is not well for the unexist links.

Nice script!, Nov 30th, 2006

Just like the description says...and I love it when that happens.

Easy to install, easy to configure, easy to fit in with any site you may have.

I have a .html and .php based site using several different scripts and this fits in nicely anywhere I choose to put it, and it only took about 30mins from download to site integration.

I recommend it for anyone looking at setting up an automated links page on their site.

Easy to setup but can't control where the links land.

needs updating, Mar 28th, 2006

It's a good idea, but it's gotten so popular, and the requirement of leaving the same full line of text advertising makes every install easily googleable - so that spammers now run bots to actively seek out and abuse this script. Within a month or two your link exchange will be full of spam unless you constantly moderate it on a daily basis.

Junk Yard Gold!, Apr 30th, 2006

Ever found a gem in a junk yard? I just did! This is a great script that works exactly as told and is highly customizable. I know virtually nothing about PHP coding but I was able to integrate the output of this software throughout my website exactly where I wanted it. Thanks for the excellent work Klemen!

From the first time that I seen LinkMan work I knew that this was the reciprocal link software that I have been looking for for months, I had see several other scripts in the past but none that can stand up to LinkMan.

It has got to be the easiest link manager I have ever seen, I can only say if you are going to use a link manager than it must be LinkMan, and it's free.

Great script...but..., Aug 10th, 2006

There is no function for importing an existing links directory. A lot of work for someone with a couple hundred links and wanting to switch from a paid service to this script
