Web Based Resume / Job Recruiter Solution

Hits: 11,767

Description: The OSI Recruiter is a php applicant tracking software solution that allows the posting of available jobs, creation of a customized application form and the management of submitted resumes. Our software is a web based job board solution that can automate the entire recruitment process, thus eliminating needless paperwork. With our applicant tracking system any business or organization can easily add an employment section to their existing web site. Our customizable user-interface will allow you to match the look and feel of your web site thus providing a seamless transition to the employment section of your site. Webmasters can even private label the software and brand the product as their own. Other features of the private label job tracking software include the ability to email resumes to specific departments, create internal tracking categories and set job expiration dates so that jobs that are no longer available will not be accessible.

OSI Recruiter is an excellent job recruiter / resume manager. We are easily able to post jobs and have candidates complete our customize job application form. The candidates can even attach their MS Word version of their resume. We really do not know what we would do without it!
