Active Data Online Discussion Board

Hits: 3,202

Description: Active Data Online Discussion Board is an advanced, n-tier, database-driven discussion board software for asp.net 3.5.

The system is the first to integrate discussion forums, blogs, statements, questions, calendar events, voting polls, files and digital pictures seamlessly and sensibly.

It is also the first to offer AI recommender agents, dynamic profile fields, a conversation centric private messages system, social networking capabilities and a built-in keyword advertising server.

Use Discussion Board to create large online communities, discussion forums, blogs, social networks, collaborative workspaces, knowledge-bases, file shares, customer support centers, workgroup calendars, picture galleries, classifieds, and more.

Active Data Online sucks, Mar 23rd, 2008

I have been trying to buy software since December 2007. (!!!). For more than 3 month. (!!!) I couldn't buy it.

I paid $300 via PayPal, they refunded it without explanations, pushing me into paying "offline". When I asked about reasons on their customer support forum, they deleted my post and blocked my account. I was very polite, trust me. I tried any negotiation skill I possess. I wanted to pay money, but they just sucked. I can't explain these people.
