PBL Tell A Friend

Hits: 4,819

Description: Simple site recommendation script with lots of extra features for those who want them & no required configuration! * Nothing in the script needs to be modified unless you want advanced options!

- * Prevent servers, not given access, permission from being recommended! *
- Control how many people the user may recommend at a time *
- Verifies that all email addresses processed are valid *
- Enable an optional log (requires mySQL) to monitor all activity with the script *
- Add additional *invisible* text which is added to all emails sent recommending sites but not displayed in the message text the user submits *
- Control the added text and default message text in simple text files *
- Template support; totally control the theme and appearance of the script! *
- Dynamic URL recommending. Capable of recommending one fixed URL or dynamic URLs passed in the query string and via HTTP_REFERER!
- * Control font family, size & color

I'm a total newbie to design and especially scripting, but this was totally easy to set up and get going. Simple to use and had everything I was looking for in an "Email to a Friend" scrip. I played with about 7 different other, but PBL is definately the best. Thanks, Frank.
