So close and yet so far, Feb 16th, 2005

As of the time of writing (Feb 2005) the author of this script has stated in his guestbook that although he is making notes of required bug fixes, his time is limited and he doesn;t know if or when he'll get the script to a final version.

This is a shame because there are still some bugs (including a pretty major one that will prevent the script handling large subscriptions).

This script has a lot of promise but I would not install it until it gets to a final version, not a RC version.

excellent program, Mar 4th, 2005

I was looking for something FREE of course to let visitors to my web pages sign up for my newsletter and let me manage those users. WOW! this program is red hot, get it now, it is so simple to setup and use you won't believe it. Does not require any programming knowledge to setup and you don't need sql either. beautiful layout of the pages and very easy to customize.

Did never run on uniks, Apr 10th, 2005

CcMail is awesome and easy to use. I've been looking for something like this for a long time.

I swear to god it should be a paid script, but what the hey

Great software, Jan 13th, 2006
