The support was absolutely great. They've even gone so far as to install the program on my website and integrate it with my users database free of charge. Right now the script is working fine and I started to play with the neat video settings. I definitely recommend having a go at it, my users are very excited too!

good features!!!, May 25th, 2006

I find this chat very professionally created and pretty looking designed. The possibility of the bandwidth control seems to be good enough feature to maintain a dialogue even in periods of possible bad connection. Besides the language filter will provide you with the full control over users casual vulgar words or expressions.
