Hits: 2,440

Description: PluggedOut Nexus is an open source solution you can install on your web server to give you a community based website where people can register, search each others interests, and communicate with one another either through a private messaging system, or via chat requests and forums.

Features include;

- User Registration
- Member Photos
- Member Searches
- Private Messaging
- Chat Requests
- Forums
- Superb support through the PluggedOut forums

The scripts have been written by a professional software developer so are easy to read and change.
