Required a lot of attention to the script., Jul 13th, 2006

This script is costly and no value for money. Required more testing and review before selling the script. It's not accept any template. Admin panel is very poor gives you limited control. Match Alert functionality is not there. Overall communication between user profile is very bad. Everything the we have to go into the code and do it. Finally the response from the owner is very slow after buying the script. Probably will not any any response in future..
