Jconserv is a great forum hosting company, the best I've ever been to. There software is great and free of charge. You will be amazed as what they do for your forums or even your organization. They even offer to help you when buying web space from them. They have the cheapest and best service around for there web space. They answer and support everyone's questions and concerns in a timely fashion, unlike other free forum hosting companies that take forever to answer your post or even help you. In all they treat you bad, when Jcon doesn't and they support you with any problems you may have. The forums are your forums, make them anyway you want, if they don't have a template you like, find one and ask them to upload it. Come on down and support Jcon, become a phpbb forum user now and enjoy the great service, as I sure am.

I went around the net for quite awhile searching for a FFH. When I ran across Jconserv, I was the happiest I think I've ever been. If you have a problem, you can post in the forums and someone will get right to you. I've so far never waited over 2 hours, unless overnight ofcourse.

Also, my favorite part, they have Pre-Installed MODs!!! And, if you need another, you can simply request it in the forums. If it gets 50 votes YES, the admins might get it! I'm never leaving Jconserv's team :D
