Hits: 6,024

Description: SoftSlate Commerce is a highly flexible shopping cart program written with 100% Java and JSP. It is designed to be the platform for a robust ecommerce solution tailored to a company's unique business needs. SoftSlate Commerce utilizes the best practices of open standards and technologies such as Struts, Hibernate, CSS, J2EE design patterns, Apache Commons technologies, the Tiles templating framework, and more—making it highly accessible to developers and designers. Best of all, the entire SoftSlate Commerce source code comes included with the product, along with a license allowing you to modify it to suit your exact requirements, without restrictions of any kind, in perpetuity.

The product cannot be rated highly enough. The code is well thought out and organized, making it easy to modify for specific needs. The jsp templates are layed out cleanly and documented thoroughly to make customization for creative requirements painless. The admin tools make the chore of building out products and categories a breeze. From a developers standpoint, the attention to detail of the design patterns and the implementation of struts and tiles makes the application a pleasure to pore over. Its like the classic 'pet store' application for the real world.
