I thought the user interface was really good. I found the english instructions were adequate.

One thing I wish it had though was a way to see a hit total of the pages to see which page on my site was receiving the most hits.

Very good script - now in different languages, Feb 20th, 2002

It has everything you need, is high scalable and now supports chinese, dutch, english, french, german, italian, norwegian, portuguese, polish, spanish and swedish.

Highly recommended.

Wish it was in English, Sep 27th, 2000

This is a cool website analysis script. But the problem is, this is completely written in french(from the documentation to the website). Tf it were written in english, then this is one script that everyone has to download and install in their websites.

Where's the beef?, Jul 9th, 2003

The link takes you to the homepage of the script creator. If you don't speak French, you'll have to click randomly until you find what you are looking for. No language selection for the homepage. I'd like to see this product, but "mais Francais c'est tre mal."
