What started off well, has passed away..., Oct 1st, 2008

Reviewed By: DWInteractive

As a customer for years (2002) using iLink, then Hyperseek and finally Hyperseek ds/X where support was perfect... the rights were recently sold to JJS Software Consulting and there are several 'holes' in the current version, bugs needing fixed which JJS will only remedy if paid too and that's in addition to the licence fee.

Advice : Avoid until JJS / iWeb sort out their politics, there are many others to choose from and I have sold my licence for under $100 recently. Actions speak louder...
