I like the fact that this site offers free invisible stats tracking with no ads. I also found out it records an infinite number of "basic" stats, so you can record millions of hits/month, and see long term trends in the graphs. Most other places give you 100-1000 log hits, and then record basic stats up to about 250k. So it is a good service, especially for larger sites or ones that have been around for a while.
