

HotScripts
<http://www.hotscripts.com>  COM

How to write text on a dynamically generated image

Hits: 2,480

Description: This tutorial will tell you how to write text to a blank dynamically generated PNG image in PHP. This is fairly simple, so it is suitable for beginners. The image functions require the GD library to be installed.

Resource Specifications

Platform(s):	linux, windows, freebsd, osx, sun
Date Added:	Jul 3rd, 2005
Last Updated:	Dec 10th, 2006
Author:	Sven Vdhrison

Average Visitor Rating:  5.00 (out of 5)

Number of Ratings: 2 Votes

Average Member Rating:  0.00 (out of 5)

Number of Reviews: 0 Reviews

Other Links by This Member

Find a visitor's IP Address with ASP

How to Find the Current URL with ASP

Generate a Month Calendar in PHP

Find a visitor's IP Address with PHP

Temperature Conversion in Java

Your First Java Program

How to write text on a dynamically generated image

How to use the query string in PHP

How to Find the Current URL with PHP

The Difference Between require\(\) and include\(\)

How to use the QueryString in ASP

Write text on an existing PNG image in PHP

Use PHP on pages without a .php extension

Image rotation with PHP

Finding Items in an Array with PHP

