Blueframe Web - Authoring Software and Flash Templates

Hits: 3,386

Description: For individuals and companies wanting to quickly create a professional website presence. Be online in minutes. Blueframe Web is a unique WYSIWYG authoring software which also includes 54 website and PocketPC Flash templates. No complicated programming languages or software to learn. Easily change images, change color, text, template size and music files, or record a voiceover plus much more. You can also easily create PayPal e-commerce links and be selling products online in minutes. Create search engine meta tags and use the inbuilt ftp program to easily upload your files. Just point and click. Extensive user manual also included.

The websites run on any server and the editor software installs on Windows from 98 to XP.

You can also add the BlueCard Addon program so you can easily burn to CD and create electronic business cards and presentations using the Blueframe templates.

Developers version also available so you can easily build and resell websites to your customers.
