eMeeting sucks!, Jan 4th, 2007

I bought this script over a year ago as version 4 after becoming a bit frustrated at the slow development of osDate. Mistake! It has never worked correctly no matter how many times I have reinstalled it. V.5 is even worse with database connection errors every time on installation. Support through their ticketing system is extremely slow to zero and the contact telephone number given doesn't work. Templates supposedly supplied with all versions are not and some image files are corrupt. Messy

Thumbs UP, Version 5 is excellent!, Jan 26th, 2007

Im not sure about you but im stick of looking through lots of dating software websites without anything special, this company has been in business for years, offers great phone support and the software worked first time. I couldnt ask for anything more. Will recommend it to my friends.

I have not been able to install it. They claim it is due to the hosting of my hostcompany. Even asked me to provide them with hosting access, user and password. Which I obviously could not grant. I would sure like to get a refund. Support has replied twice but after the program was found not to be working - support is not replying. Strange. Anyhow if support would have come Back I would have asked for refund, - why bother I strongly suspect that I will not get that anyway.
