Real Estate Portal

Hits: 8,434

Description: Real Estate Portal allows you to launch powerful and professional looking real estate portals with rich functionalities to post properties for sale or rent, search in the database, show featured ads and many others. The private sellers can manage their ads at any time through their personal administration space. The product includes special functionalities for real estate agents (to post and manage multiple ads) and affiliates (to earn commissions from the earnings from property ads posted through their links). Real Estate Portal comes also with a powerful back office application providing full control over the web site (structure management, templates, server side forms, detailed statistics) and the real estate portal (ads, sellers, agents, affiliates, statistics) to the administrators.

I purchased this script from netartmedia but before I purchased I asked for some items to be customised and installed on my server.

I told them I would pay for the customisation which they offer on their website. When I paid they sent me the download url without the modification. Then they told me to hire someone to modify it for me. Not very nice of them was it. Now I have a Property website that is of no use to me and out of pocket .

Your answer is untrue and incorrect:

I was in contact with you by email and also on messenger several times before I purchased and you assured me you would customise it for me and also I offered on a number of occasions to pay you for Customisation and uploading to my site You told me then to find someone to do the work for me and that is why I did not ask for a refund.

You should not have agreed to the customisation if you had no intention of doing it.

I still have all the emails from you.

Excellent script, Aug 26th, 2007

I was using another real estate script and switched to this one recently and so far I am really happy with it. It works faster and the interface is very nice. Also it's template based, there are a lot of professional looking templates available and one could make easily customizations of the template. It's an excellent script with very good support, thank you!

Good script with fast support, Mar 9th, 2008

This script has a very nice interface with plenty of features. Also I liked very much the fact that the script comes with the PHP sources which aren't encrypted, so it's possible to make modification in them. The support provided by the company is very fast and effective.

Nice script, highly recommended, Apr 13th, 2008
