ASP.NET Google PageRank Component Hits: 1,052

Description: DotNetStuff.com is happy to announce the release of our Google™ PageRank component for use in your ASP.NET projects.

Our PageRank component is available in several versions, from Lite to Enterprise with varying features and restrictions.

The Lite version is hosted by us and ideal for personal home pages. It is completely free. It doesn't allow for any customization, but is implementable on any type of site (.aspx, .html, .php, etc.) with one line of code and the price is unbeatable.

Our Pro version is available as either licensed or unlicensed and will return the PageRank of whatever page the component is called from. The low cost of licensing the component allows for a great deal of customization, free upgrades and removes our advertisement. The licensed version can return the PageRank of the page in several formats from a simple number to a completely formatted table with graphical representation.

The Enterprise version allows for the retrieving of external site PageRanks.
