I am impressed by this blog - The user interface skins are impressive, the help/installation guide is pretty much ok but most importantly it works. And it works trouble free. The features are also very well thought and have a sense of completion about them. Admin side needs a bit of improvement in terms of UI design etc.

After using a Linux server for years I recently moved to a Windows setup. My old PHP blog would not work properly.

Although completely new to ASP I found the installation and configuration very easy to use. The script offers everything I need.

This is by far the best ASP blog out there. Easy to install, easy to use and all the options (and more) that I was looking for. Oh yeah, and the price is really unbelievable.
