This is a relatively new script on the market- and it shows! This is full of bugs and these people are not nearly fast enough to respond to support! It's impossible to reach them since they have no phone number. I don't know of many legitimate companies without a phone number you can reach them at. This company is a fraud! Look elsewhere, this script is absolute rubbish.

I totally disagree with the negative reviews i've read here. This product has been great for me and their support has been more than excellent.

I looked through all of the dating scripts available on the market, and it really is a competitive one. i was referred to vldPersonals by a friend who purchased their software previously. The level of support i received was great. Any questions i had were answered within minutes. Their personal touch and attention to every detail made me confident that i made the right decision.

This is by far one of the best products I've purchased. You can buy it "as is" or get it completely customized. It is very well managed and presented, fast and very easy to install (not to mention the free installation which is provided even though I didn't need it). What makes it even more incredible is the support. Vlad and his team respond quickly and their knowledge of the product is amazing. Great job and thank you.
