Web Based File Manager in ASP.NET: FileVista

Hits: 2,679

Description: A web based file manager with advanced user management features. Access to folders can be limited by permissions for users and groups. Administration panel for both the administrator and the group managers. Advanced upload dialog which can do both Flash (select multiple files at once) and Browser (select single file at once) upload with detailed information on upload progress. If Flash is not available then upload is still possible with Browser upload with the same great user interface. Complete file management actions including Zip/Unzip. Ability to log events (audit trail). Intuitive and fast AJAX user interface. Easy and fast folder navigation with tree view. Fast file listing, client-side sorting on the fly. Context menus for a neat and simple user interface. Cross browser, works with most modern browsers. Tested with Internet Explorer, Firefox and Safari. Multi language support for the user interface. Currently available languages: English, German, Italian, Dutch and Turkish.

We've been using FileVista now for about 3 months and it's perfect. Being in the ad specialty, trade show display and printing businesses, we're always managing large files and need ways to transfer them to and from customers. FileVista was exactly what we needed. It's easy to administrate, easy to use and our customers love it. After spending years messing with FTP clients and servers, this is truly a wonderful alternative.
