After taking a look at the form, i have found many security issues. If you don't want to get hacked or spammed out of your mind, do not get this. I would have to say, Frontmailer has more holes than John Kerry in front of a Mexican firing squad.

I really enjoyed the wizard that generates a very nice mail form. I looked around on the web for a good php mail script and this was the best I found.No php knowledge necessary. The wizard also generates nice css and formatting options for the form. I had a technical question for the author and he emailed a reply immediately. Improvements are ongoing.

Excellent little program which works exactly as advertised. Simple to use and setup once you know to enter the email address in the code. I really liked the setup wizard which worked just great.
