The worst piece of software ever made?, Jan 9th, 2007

Hey,

I just want to warn people against this software.. Unless you plan to use it exactly the way it looks when you receive it (or just think about changing the colors) you are better off programming the whole thing by yourself.

The code is unfinished, and you often run into problems only to find a comment like "TODO: blah blah" in the source code!!!

Totally frustrating to buy something you have to finish yourself, when you are expecting a real product..

it makes me wanna cry.. ;)
