Description: This is a small and easy to use calendar. It uses one text-file for every month you have events in, making it easy to edit by hand. A tiny admin interface is also included, to let you add events directly from the webpage. No need for mysql, or any other database. Works with safemode on, and registerglobals off. Small admin interface. Should work with unlimited number of events. Can easily be change so that the week starts with Monday or Sunday. It's also easy to change the language of the calendar to your choice. It works without mysql or anything else that is hard to configure. Making it ideal for less experienced web-masters.
