WebTester

Hits: 26,122

Description: WebTester is an online test and quiz management system. It allows you to create custom tests or quizzes online, with questions ranging from true/false, multiple choice, and short answer. You can integrate pictures, Flash, sound, and movies with the easy to use HTML question editor. There is also built in TeX and LaTeX support for math formulas without having to manually generate images. You can limit which users can take which test, there is now test authentication using your phpBB forum, and a built in user management area. Another recently added feature is LDAP authentication. WebTester is also actively being worked on, with new features being added all the time.

In my opinion, incredibly overpriced., Jun 23rd, 2006

I gave this product a rating of 3 because there are other similar products which you can get for free on the internet: webquestions2 (hard to find nowadays), hot potatoes, etc.

The program is not bad, but the features are rather limited.

Support forum is empty, not much effort has been put into it.

I'm not saying I expect a program like this to be free, but at 299 the price is just not realistic.

Great software and support!, Sep 25th, 2006

I reviewed several quiz programs over about a months time and I finally settled on Webtester. The combination of the support they give in the forums, the custom tweaks they will do for you, and the quality of the program overall made it my number 1 choice. Even during the trial period support helped me with a few minor issues I was having with my configuration. So if you are looking for quiz software, take a look at this one.
