OpenCrypt - Membership Software

Hits: 2,902

Description: OpenCrypt is a fully automated and self-managing membership and user management system for use on Internet web sites. Offering support for unlimited membership subscription groups, linked to unlimited secure content areas, with the ability to integrate with all major e-commerce payment processors allows for incredible flexibility over which users see what content and at what cost.

Affiliate system, integrated help-desk, digital file delivery, content management, newsletter and community tools and in-built shopping cart systems make it an incredible marketing and web site management tool too and of course, sophisticated anti-hack and password abuse detection tools prevent unwanted users from gaining access to your secure content.

Software also includes powerful database integration facility which allows you to link registration with any other mySQL or text database-based software such as your forum or helpdesk.

If you're thinking of having a membership system on your web site, OpenCrypt is well worth looking into. Membership is complicated, yet this system seems to handle the job very well. There are customization features which allow you to get your own look and feel, and yet all of the behind the scenes processing is done for you. Don't reinvent the wheel, when you can simply buy it. The folks there are savvy and helpful as well. I'm very happy with this system, which is also e-commerce enabled.

Although I am in ecommerce, I am completely new to OpenCrypt. I have not only found it reliable and easy to understand, but am also hugely impressed by the level of help and support offered by this company. I would happily recommend OpenCrypt to any ebusiness in need of creating a secure members area online.

I'm a total novice with coding but had a requirement for a subscription management system on a new client's site. I looked around for something appropriate and found OpenCrypt.

What can I say - superb, excellent, marvellous? All such words are equally valid. Not only does the software do everything I need elegantly and simply, the support service is exemplary! With virtually no delays the OC team customised my installation to meet my requirements and sorted every issue I had.

Highly recommended.
