ProcMail RC Manager (Auto-Responder)

Hits: 534

Description: This program is an online vacation reply manager. This system generates a .procmailrc file on Linux/Unix servers without needing to use shell access. Controls an unlimited amount of email accounts. After logging in the manager the system displays a list of found email accounts. Click on edit to add/remove, turn on/off auto-reply, to any email account listed. A new .procfilerc file is automatically generated for you.

System Requirements: Linux/Unix & Perl. Your server must provide a version of webmail that includes the .procmailrc file accessible in your root directory. Your webmail's configuration files must also be located within your root directory. Or, your server must grant you rights to access these system files.
